

PROFILE

Nine years at Toyota Motor Korea. Owned both customer relationships and product lifecycle across the Toyota and Lexus brands. Turned service-touchpoint data into segmentation, tiering and loyalty structures to optimize CLV, and took full ownership of products from launch through growth and retention. Two flagship projects: a purchase- and behavior-based customer tier program that turned relationships into lasting assets, and an after-sales DX that unified fragmented dealer data into the brand app — digitizing 100% of the service process and reaching 90% app sign-up and 2× MAU. Shaping global HQ brand direction into strategy for the Korean market has been the throughline of the career.
